LISA MCDENNON

Lisa McDennon didn't let the master dressing room's small size deter her from producing an impactful result. Working with California Closets, the slender space's well-thought-out utility is matched by its beauty, which is underlined by vivid Kravet wallpaper and her own Coral Pendants for Hinkley. "When designing a closet or other functional space like this," says McDennon, "there's a critical balance between aesthetics and function as you don't want either to be compromised."
